"You find Pasha and Beys, Omdas and Intellectuals, along with playboys, drinking with foreigners, both Jewish and Christian. You see a Muslim drinking a glass of wine to the health of a Christian, as if the Quran had not forbidden the consumption of alcohol"

Mohammed Said Shimi, 1894.

"Why should I not have a good time here, in a black man's country? You have a good time in America, which you call a white man's country. Here we are on the same plank as you. If anything happens and we have to say 'Good Morning Judge', we have a square deal at the cards when it is our turn to deal."
